

CLAY ROOF TILES

Santafé means Quality

In all types of clay roof tiles, bricks & pavers

Our Business

Santafé has been a leader in the clay product industry for the past half a century and is currently the largest producer in the Americas. Located in the outskirts of Bogotá, Colombia, Santafé operates from 12 manufacturing plants that produce a diverse product line, from structural bricks, facade bricks and pavers to several profiles of roof tiles, from the traditional to the contemporary.

Through a system of company warehouses and distribution networks, Santafé's products reach customers throughout Central and South America, the Caribbean and most major markets in the United States.

Our Distinctive Quality

Santafé insists that the quality be the main priority throughout the entire production process. This begins with the highest quality raw materials available from our mines in Colombia. From carefully selecting the clays in the mines, their grinding operation and careful monitoring of kiln temperatures, our specially trained technicians control all phases of manufacturing to ensure the same impeccable finishes time after time. Clay products retain their vibrant color over time, unlike other building materials. Santafé clay products, because of their production process, have very low absorption and very high strength that provides higher resistance to mildew and staining caused by environmental factors. Santafé roof tiles are a perfect replacement option for shingle or concrete roofs.

Our color palette is one of the largest in the tile industry, with over 50 different colors available in natural clay, matte and glazed finishes. Santafé will also develop custom colors for our customers who wish to be unique or exclusive with their color tile needs.

Our Promise

Santafé's creativity and experience, combined with the latest technology and strict quality control standards allows us to guarantee the best combination of price and quality in the industry today. We back up this commitment with a 50 year limited, normal wear and tear warranty on all our products. When you purchase a Santafé product, it is backed by a company committed 100% to its customers.
